Initially, the most significant value is that innovation can offer us a brand-new angle to see through to the essence of the matter. In addition, the fundamental reason mainly stems from the fact that obsolete views can be eliminated and replaced with innovative ideas. Finally, there are, still, other influential factors standing out among them. Someone who is creative is more likely to gain priority in the job market. In terms of giving measures to encourage innovation, I will list the following ones.
