六、翻译参考译文 (本次三题：太湖/青海湖/洞庭湖，多题多卷)

翻译题 太湖 (Taihu Lake) : Taihu Lake is a freshwater lake in Eastern China, covering an area of 2,250 square kilometers. It is the third largest freshwater lake in China, only after Poyang Lake and Dongting Lake. Taihu Lake has about 90 islands, whose sizes vary from several square meters to several square kilometers. Taihu Lake is well known for its unique "Taihu Stone", which is often used to decorate traditional Chinese gardens. Taihu Lake is also famous for its high-yield fishing industry. Since the late 1970s, fishing for fish and crabs is rather important for the residents along the lake and makes a great contribution to the economy of the surrounding areas. Taihu Lake region is one of the bases of Chinese ceramics, and the manufacturers of pottery in Yixing produce world-famous Yixing clay teapots.

翻译题 青海湖 (Qinghai Lake) : Qinghai Lake, 3,205 meters above sea level and about 100 kilometers west of Xining, capital of Qinghai Province, is the largest saltwater lake in China, with an area of 4,317 square kilometers and a maximum depth of 25.5 meters. Most of the 23 rivers and streams that empty into Qinghai Lake are seasonal. Five major streams provide 80% of the lake's total influx. Located at the crossroads of several bird migration routes across Asia, Qinghai Lake offers many species an intermediate stop during migration. On the western side of the lake are the well-known "Bird Islands", which attract birdwatchers from across the globe. Every summer, tourists come here to watch the Qinghai Lake International Cycling Race.

翻译题 洞庭湖 (Dongting Lake) : Dongting Lake is a large, shallow lake in northeastern Hunan province, China. It is a flood basin of the Yangtze River; hence the lake's size depends largely on the season. The provinces of Hubei and Hunan are named after their location relative to the lake: Hubei means "North of the Lake" and Hunan, "South of the Lake". Dongting Lake is famous in Chinese culture as the birthplace of dragon boat racing, which is said to have begun on the eastern shores of Dongting Lake as a search for the body of Qu Yuan, the Chu poet. Together with the lake and its surrounding beauty, the racing appeals to thousands of tourists from other parts of China and beyond each year.
